WEBSITE BIO

Mark Friedman brings broad experience in business leadership, early-stage investing, and board service to the ACA Angel University faculty. His career spans startups to mid-sized companies across diverse industries, with extensive C-level and board experience, as well as service on nonprofit boards. Mark is an early-stage investor, co-founder and President of RTP Capital Associates, Inc., and Portfolio Manager for The Launch Place, where he supports growing ventures. His diverse perspective across leadership, investing, and venture development offers Angel University students valuable insight into the opportunities and challenges of building and supporting early-stage companies.
